HOOMAN

SPEAK WITH CONFIDENCE · 6–8 PEOPLE · IN-HOUSE

Two half-days on the presentations your team actually gives

For anyone who presents at work: team leads showing plans and goals to management, experts explaining what their department does, people pitching an idea, a budget or a client.

YOUR TRAINER Matej Podobnik, 15+ years training people at

P&G · HUAWEI · OUTFIT7 · forvis mazars

For people who'd rather not be up there.

How the two half-days work

1 Half-day one: the tools

- Structure: the conclusion first, one takeaway
- Slides: fewer, and right for the room or for email
- Delivery: voice, eye contact, body language
- Nerves: what helps before and during a talk

2 Half-day two: the practice

- Everyone presents a talk they really have to give: a team plan, a results update, a pitch
- Feedback from Matej and from the group
- Changes each person takes into the real thing

Why L&D teams book it

Little work for you
One call to agree what should change. We prepare the rest around the team's own material.

Used the next week
People rework presentations they already have in the diary, so the training shows up at work.

Measured
Participants rate the workshop. You get a close-out report with scores and comments.

LAST GROUP · OUT OF 5 — 4.8 workshop · 5.0 trainer · 4.8 useful for work · 4.83 would recommend

> The most useful for me were the practical tricks we can immediately apply.
>
> Workshop participant

> New to public speaking or experienced speaker, this training will help you improve. It surprised me.
>
> Rok Mioč

> Matej is living proof that the training works. A natural introvert excelling at what many consider an extrovert's task.
>
> Milica Berček

Tell me who your team presents to. I'll send a workshop plan.

Matej Podobnik · matej@hooman-communications.com · +357 99 379 010 · in English or Slovenian